Some of our hand-picked local favourites, offering both style and substance, include:

Friends of Ham

A Leeds hidden gem, Friends of Ham has earned a prestigious reputation amongst Leeds’ knowledgeable restaurant-goers and critics from the national media alike. This modernist charcuterie restaurant is a clear indicator of Leeds’ position as a driver of culinary trends and fashions.

4-8 New Station Street, Leeds LS1 5DL

Angelica & Crafthouse

Not to be confused as one, Angelica and Crafthouse both offer an impressive destination for those looking for the ultimate drinking and dining experience. Located on the fifth floor of the stunning Trinity Leeds, Crafthouse, with its regularly changing seasonal menus, is the sister restaurant to Angelica, offering its stunning panoramic views of the City.

Located within Leeds’ grand Old Post Office, this is a restaurant which prides itself on the philosophy of offering great ingredients with service to match, inspired by classical and seasonal cooking.

The Old Post Office, 3 City Square, Leeds LS1 2AN

Sous Le Nez

One of the City’s most acclaimed restaurants, effectively next door to the Majestic. Translating to ‘under the nose’, it’s a place not to walk past as the subterranean nature provides a unique environment to enjoy the French inspired menu with Yorkshire hospitality.

The Basement, Quebec House, 9 Quebec St, Leeds LS1 2HA

Tattu

Tattu Leeds offers diners a culinary experience, the restaurant’s menu embraces traditional Asian flavours and delivers contemporary Chinese cuisine in beautiful surroundings. 200 Degrees Coffee

Specialist coffee roasters and unashamed coffee geeks. Their aim is to create the perfect cup of coffee so they ship the finest green beans from Rainforest Alliance farms back to the UK where tweed-clad artisans use the traditional art of roasting (at 200° Centigrade) to give a full bodied, smoother taste.

31 Bond Street Leeds, LS1 5BQ

Iberica

With its wondrous blend of antique and modern style, Iberica has earned an enviable reputation as a destination restaurant for those who appreciate authentic Spanish cuisine. With a menu created by a Michelin-starred chef, Iberica has played a real part in cementing Leeds’ place at the forefront of Britain’s burgeoning restaurant scene.

16 New Station Street, Leeds LS1 5DL

Kendells Bistro

It’s relaxed, informal, no waiters topping up wine glasses after every sip, or sneaking up behind you with a six foot pepper mill. Cloth napkins but not starched, blackboard menus open plan kitchen, intimate cosy candles flickering friendly without pretence. In fact they are so French they don’t have a service charge and don’t charge for bread either!

St Peters Square, Leeds, LS9 8AH
